Aloha Jennyl would like to take a moment to thank you for the courage to share about the passing of your son. They say by doing so the grief can be cut in half, thank god for I know the half that is left can be overwhelming. My prayers go out to you. My family lost my younger brother to a similar fate at the age of thirty six. I can remember my mom stating "The hardest thing I have ever done was to tell your brother he needed to move out." You see she had reached the point where his disease could no longer be allowed to continue its destruction of her & those close to her. Today I am blessed to be alive and free of my own disease, extremely grateful to know people like you! My condolences go out to you & those close to you. Sincerely Michael
