Chelsea Mcmillan lit a candle in honor of Colin.

Dear Colin, I remember that one time you were telling me about the Oculus Quest (virtual reality console) on our way home from a client appointment. We stopped off at Game Stop in Kamehameha Shopping Center and you asked the employee about the Oculus and that you wanted to buy one. I was browsing around, waiting, and you bought it! As we exited the store, you gave it to me. And I had no idea! I was pleasantly surprised and happy!! remember we played this zombie game on the VR called Arizona Sunshine... it was so scary but so fun at the same time...and you were the only one I played it with. I will miss all the games we played together...I will miss doing so much things with you...you're the best older brother I could've ever asked for. I wish we had more time together. I love you and will miss you so much.-Chelsea
